Accuracy of Your Information and Billing; Completion of Payment

You are solely responsible for providing accurate and complete information to use this service, and for confirming any amount(s) owed to CFPA for your membership renewal. Your membership renewal is not complete until you (1) fill in the online form that appears above this window, (2) authorize payment by your credit card company (or financial institution) through Pay Pal, and (3) CFPA receives and accepts your payment.

If CFPA is unable to process your payment for any reason, we will attempt to notify you at least one using the contact information you have provided. If your payment is not processed/authorized by your credit card company (or financial institution) or for some reason not accepted by CFPA, your payment liability shall remain outstanding and unpaid. This may mean incurring additional fees to renew your membership or cancellation of your CFPA membership for nonpayment.
